CUMMINS' BILL HAS NO JIM CROW CLAUSE.

mmediate Demand By Race Against This Humiliation Will Give Needed Test On Presidency, Senators Are Aspirants For Nation's Highest

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1.—An un-precedented situation faces the 14,-000,000 Colored Americans. Never aince full citizenship was put into the Federal Constitution, has the close of any really great war come. close of any really great war come, in which our soldiers took part till in which our soldiers took part till now. Also the war just fought was to establish the reign of true democracy. The post-war Congress is in session, and a matter is before the Senate with which democracy for the race is connected, namely, interstate railroads. The issue is abolition of the iniquitous Jim Crow car in interstate travel by inducing some senator to introduce a simple amendoment forbidding the segregation of passengers for color — interstate travel and inducing other senators to support and push the amendment to the railroad bill .

The need is for individuals and race organizations to write or telegraph this week to their senators to offer and push such an amendment. Also to bombard Senator Cummins, Chairman, to do or give the race a bearing. The National Equal Rights League is already doing this and urges all to act.

The Cummins Railroad Bill was revice; Mrs. Georgia McLemon, asst. grade of service because of race or secretary; Dr. M. H. Leach, treas-color. color.

Republican Aspirants.

Another opportunity also presents tself in this connection inasmuch as enators Harding of Chio, Howard Sutherland of W. Va., and Poindexter of Washington are out for the Republican presidential nomination. By requesting these to offer the amend-ment, not only should the race get it done, but no better test can be hand to find out whether they will stand up for the race if nominated and elected to presidency. It is vital for the race in the states of these three senators to deluge them with requests immediately. In fact, them receive requests from other states also.
